

Largest/Smallest Array Values

Write a program that lets the user enter 10 values into an array. The program should then display the largest and smallest values stored in the array.